JOSEPH ECONOMOS, Owner

Jeco's Deli & Catering

When Joseph Economos began working at his father John's shop, Jeco's Deli & Catering, in 2007, he was 19 and just trying to pick up some extra cash. Within a short time, however, he found himself acquiring a lot more. Working alongside his father, he learned not only the ins and outs of the trade, but many important life lessons, as well. John emphasized the importance of virtues such as determination, perseverance, integrity, and compassion. When Joseph saw how passionate his father was about the business, he decided to pursue it as a full-time career.

Sadly, Joseph's father John passed away in 2011. Joseph, who now owns Jeco's Deli, maintains a strong sense of pride and feels privileged to serve the community just as his father did. Most importantly, he and his mother Connie, strive to keep his father's dream alive each and every day. March 2016 will find Jeco's Deli celebrating nine years of service to the Nesconset community.

Jeco's Deli offers a wide range of homemade, fresh, breakfast and lunch options as well as delicious hot and cold catering dishes for all occasions. All breakfast, lunch, salads and sandwiches are made fresh to order with the finest ingredients, like Boar's Head deli meats. The grill is fired up and ready to go all day for breakfast and lunch!

The motto at Jeco's Deli is "Quality is our specialty." They consistently strive to offer high quality customer service and view their customers as friends. Customers appreciate that they are a small, family business and give them consistently high marks on sites like Facebook and Yelp. The Jeco's Deli team pays special attention to customers' individual needs and strives to create a personal experience for them each time they come in. They are proud to be the winners of the "best deli, egg sandwich, and lunch sandwich" in the Best of Long Island contest for two years running!

In keeping with his father's character and emphasis on service to the community, Joseph has continued to volunteer with and contribute to the Smithtown Children's Foundation. Jeco's Deli offers a small business scholarship, The John A. Economos Scholarship (with the Smithtown Children's Foundation) to Smithtown high school seniors to help them pursue their dreams of becoming small business owners.
